

BLAMES HEARST FOR BITTERNESS OF AUSTRALIANS

Neils Neilsen, Trade Commissioner, Says Distorted News Was Sent Commonwealth

Distortion of cable news furnished by the International Cable Service (the Hearst wire) to Australian newspapers, and "coloring" of the despatches to suit Hearst's anti-British views, are one of the main causes for the recent anti-American sentiment in Australia. So said Neils Neilsen, trade commissioner representing the government of New South Wales to America, today. Mr. Neilsen is here on business, having purchased the American schooner J. M. Weatherwax yesterday for his government.

Perhaps the most dominant factor, however, is the belief in Australia that the San Francisco port authorities allowed the steamer Sacramento to sail last year with coal ostensibly for South American ports, but in reality going to coal the German cruisers at Valparaiso.

To counteract the effect of Hearst's distorted cable news, Mr. Neilsen and other Australians in the states have sent frequent letters for publication in newspapers in the great commonwealth, giving both sides of the situation. "Feeling against the United States has now been largely dispelled through the efforts of myself and others to report the facts," he said.

Now Buying from States. The best proof that Australia has recovered from anti-American bitterness, according to Mr. Neilsen, is that as the authorized representative of the government of New South Wales, he has spent more than a million dollars in the last few months, to buy supplies from the United States that might have been easily secured in Argentina or other South American countries. These included wheat, fodder and lumber.

Since 1911, when Mr. Neilsen established his trade commissioner's office in San Francisco, imports from Australia have risen from $500,000 to $3,700,000 at the end of October this year. "They will touch $10,000,000 by the end of 1915," he added.

Exports from the United States to Australia have also increased from $2,200,000 in 1912 to $12,000,000, the figure he estimates they will reach when this year ends December 31.

Mr. Neilsen is staying at the Royal Hawaiian hotel, and will return to San Francisco on the Lurline next Tuesday. He is an enthusiast over the Pan-Pacific movement, and believes it will mean a great deal in the development of trade and more cordial relations between the countries of the Pacific.

"Is she pretty?" "Pretty? Why, that girl is so pretty that plenty of fellows are glad to call on her father and mother."

Each of the belligerent nations knew just how anxious all the rest are for peace it probably would clinch its teeth a little harder and go right on as before.

"Are you fond of music?" asked Miss Oldgirl. "Not very," replied Mr. Oldbatch, "but I prefer it to popular songs."

OBJECTIONS TO FORBES' PLANS GIVEN VOICE

Opposition was encountered this afternoon at the directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in reports of the chamber's various committees to certain details of the plans proposed by Superintendent of Public Works Charles R. Forbes, for petitioning Congress for appropriations to improve Honolulu harbor, build a military road around Oahu, and make other public improvements in the island.

After going over Forbes' recommendations, the trades, commercial, and industrial development committee reported that it could not give its approval to his proposition to grant the National Guard the privilege of using the U. S. army commissary, but that it did approve granting such privileges to the extent that they are granted on the mainland. The committee held that he allow the privileges advocated by Forbes would hurt local merchants.

Approval of Forbes' proposal to have the government build a belt road around Oahu was given by the county and municipal affairs committee, which presented a resolution to this effect, asking that copies be sent to the president, Congress and the delegate from Hawaii.

Opposition to the Forbes' plan of diverting $250,000 annually of customs and territorial receipts, for five years, to making harbor improvements here, was contained in the report of the maritime affairs committee, which stated that it could not see its way clear to indorse the suggestion.

Shortly after 3 o'clock, a motion made by W. R. Farrington was carried, that the members of the four committees having Forbes' recommendations under consideration meet with President Fred L. Waldron of the chamber, and later with Governor Luchins E. Pinkham, to arrive at some common ground of general agreement on the clauses over which there is the most difference of opinion.

MILITARY DRILL AT OAHU COLLEGE GIVEN APPROVAL

The educational committee of Oahu College at a meeting this noon voted to recommend to the board of trustees of the institution that a system of semi-compulsory military training for the boys in the academy, and the boys in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the preparatory, be established and be given a thorough tryout until the end of the 1915-16 school year at least.

The board's recommendation will be presented to the trustees tomorrow, when they meet at the University Club at 12:15 o'clock, at which time a final decision will be reached. The educational committee is composed of W. R. Castle, A. F. Griffiths, F. C. Atherton, Judge W. L. Whitney and A. C. Alexander.

According to the present plans, military instruction will be given the boys two afternoons each week, after school. It is understood that the instructors will be Capt. E. K. Massee, judge, advocate of the Hawaiian Department.

Optional With Parents. Those parents who do not wish their boys to take the training may have them excused on request.

"It will only be an experiment," said President A. F. Griffiths today, "with a view to trying out the value of military instruction at Punahou under the peculiar conditions that exist here. It will be tried during the school year and at the end of the year the final decision will be made. Emphasis will be put on the physical training and the discipline, and there will be no attempt to make the military features prominent. As this is only an experiment the expense of uniforms and equipment will be kept as low as possible."

The boys will wear white uniforms of an athletic type, and it is probable that regulation U. S. rifles will be furnished the school.

NEW YORK-BROOKLYN POSTAL CHIEFS OUT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Postmaster General Burleson has conferred with President Wilson over appointments of postmasters at New York and Brooklyn. The term of E. M. Morgan, postmaster at New York, expires December 24, and W. E. Kelly, postmaster of Brooklyn, resigned to become county clerk. Representative Fitzgerald has recommended P. J. Cleary for the Brooklyn office, but it is said at the postoffice department that he will not get the place "for departmental reasons."

SACHS' STORE IS MECCA FOR XMAS

Things to Delight Feminine Heart are Shown in Selected Profusion

"Luckily we had little delay in getting our Christmas goods this year," said Manager John Lennox of N. S. Sachs Drygoods Co., Ltd., and a trip around the well-arranged quarters of the Sachs store on Hotel street abundantly proved his statement. At Sachs' are exceedingly tasteful and artistic goods for Christmas gifts and the display will delight every feminine eye.

One very striking showing is that of the "boot stockings." Only brand. Neckwear, laces and scarfs, feather boas and ruffs—so popular this season—art needlework of intricate and attractive design, dainty lace luncheon sets, draperies, cretonnes and domestic goods of all sorts—everywhere is an inviting display on counter, in show-case or on the shelves.

Sachs' has a specially comprehensive line of millinery this year. Manager Lennox having broadened this department out for the benefit of the store's patrons. Dresses, coats and capes are, as usual, of the latest design and fabric. One line which will be a keen delight to every woman and girl who sees it is the Kayser Venetian Silk Underwear, marvelously dainty and pleasant to touch. Furthermore, it's all "Made in America."

For the youngsters the store offers a wide variety. The famous "Flossie Fisher Funnies" from the pages of the Ladies' Home Journal have been transformed into novelties of various sorts. And on one counter there are the "bulleest" lot of toy sailing-vessels a lively boy could wish.

"The holiday trade is very satisfactory," says Manager Lennox. "The afternoon trade is surprisingly strong. This is going to be a very good Christmas."

PROTEST IS FILED TO EXPEL SMOOT FROM U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—C. G. Patterson of Salt Lake City has filed a protest with the clerk of the Senate against the retention of his seat in the Senate by Reed Smoot of Utah. Copies of the protest were sent to members of the Senate. Mr. Patterson charges that Senator Smoot represents the sugar interests in Utah. He says that Mr. Smoot is an apostle of the Mormon church, and that makes it almost impossible for any one to run against him for the Senate with any hope of success. Senator Smoot says that he does not know Patterson and that the charges are absurd.
